

Sanctuary

(Helmut Huber)

I feel lonely, isolated
Locked up in this house
Deathly silence, not any voices
Loneliness – I've to get out

My mirror image is so silent
Like a candle in the night
My shadow hides in the dark
But still the stars are shining bright

My sanctuary
Became a prison for me
In my sanctuary
My dreams are dying slowly

I don't know the reason why
But how can I ease my pain
There so many wrong situations
And all my trying is in vain

Ain't nobody, makes me happy
No one seems to love me
The echoes of my loudest screams
Are captured in eternity

My sanctuary
Became a prison for me
In my sanctuary
My dreams are dying slowly